RAILWAYMEN ON SANTA FE QUIT TRAINS IN A DESERT

Passengers Stranded In Out Of The Way Places

STRIKE IS WORSE

Trainmen Plainly In Sympathy With Shopmen

(China Press Service)

San Francisco, August 14.—The railroad strike entered a new and disturbing phase today when crews on trains on several divisions of the Santa Fe Railroad, deserted their trains at out-of-the-way places and left the passengers, freight and mails marooned in desert towns.

One special train arrived here this afternoon bringing 620 passengers who had been marooned at Needles, California, when the crew on the Santa Fe train left the train there, when they found that armed guards were still guarding railroad property at Needles. The men quit under a ruling from the 'Big Four' brotherhoods that they could stop work if their lives were endangered by the presence of armed guards.

Another train brought marooned passengers from Las Vegas, N. M. The train was manned by a 'pickup' crew and accompanied by a number of railroad guards and three deputy sheriffs. Four Union Pacific trains also brought 340 passengers from Needles. Over 100 passengers are still at Needles hoping to board trains for the East.

Washington, Aug. 14.—Attorney General Daugherty today wired the District Attorney at Los Angeles to investigate the marooning of passengers in desert towns in California and New Mexico by crews deserting the trains.

The Vice-President of the Santa Fe wired that the action of the trainmen was "inhuman lawlessness."

Washington, Aug. 14.—Rail executives, in a public statement in response to President Harding's proposals for a settlement of the railroad strike stated that the majority of the executive had agreed at a meeting in New York to give the strikers back their old jobs if vacant pending the outcome of the dispute betwen workers and railroads.

The executives said that no further conferences were planned as they had decided to fight the strike to the finish. They stated that their final offer as a basis for the settlement of the strike had been offered.

The union heads have withheld comment on the President's proposals for the present.

Birmingham, August 14.—A complete tieup of all transporation by rail in Alabama has resulted from the walkout staged by railroad men in the state yesterday. Mails, passengers and freight are all delayed by the strike.

New York, August 14.—Railroad officials today reported that bombs were hurled at the Weehawken local train on the West Shore railroad near Scranton Junction shattering the windows of three coaches and injuring ten persons, five seriously.

Portland, August 14.—Fire today destroyed fifty locomotives on the Maine Central railroad. It is not known whether the fire was an accident or intentional.

DOG DAYS STUFF

By Westa

THE MANAGEMENT of the Shanghai Baseball Club is between the devil and the deep blue sea in the matter of charging an additional admission for the present series of games, and for others to be played later in the season.

On the one hand there are many members of the club who hold season tickets who are flatly opposed to any additional charge. And on the other hand there is a certainty that without the additional admissions no more visiting teams can be brought here this season, nor the club left in position to begin operations next spring.

It is a fundamental law of economics that you can't get something for nothing unless you are dealing with a philanthropist or an idiot, and as the management of the baseball club is neither philanthropic nor idiotic it follows that the baseball fans in this town, if they want baseball, must pay the cost thereof.

No reasonable fan expects baseball for less than it costs, but all the fans in this town are not reasonable. Witness the flock of them who stand along the sidelines, day after day, looking upon games that have to be paid for by others than themselves. It would be curious to know how those sun mowers reconcile their knowledge of the fact that the games they watch have to be paid for by somebody, with their own brazen acceptance of the pleasure it must give them to watch the contests without ever offering to help, even a little, in carrying the club's financial burden.

The paying members of the baseball club ought to hire Louie Ladow, or Shepherd's, or the Astor House caterer to serve tea to that gang of railbirds some baseball afternoon, free, gratis and for nothing. The noise and clamor they probably would set up over the inferior quality of the tea and the service undoubtably would be worth more as a spectacle than the cost of the tea.

HOWEVER, the more immediate problem of the management is to satisfy, and pacify, the regular paying members of the club who are not convinced that the additional admission is justifiable. In this connection there is no denying the fact that the club management, in previous years as well as this year, is largely responsible for most of the dissatisfaction, in that they spoiled the fans by making baseball too cheap.

Ten dollars is not enough for a season ticket to the baseball games, if the contests are to be against teams really worth seeing. And since there is no local opposition the only chance for really worthwhile contests is with imported teams.

The vast majority of the fans here are perfectly willing to pay the expense of importing a few good teams each season, and if the price of season tickets, when they are sold in the spring, were fixed at an amount sufficient to insure the presence of such teams it is not likely that any considerable number of fans would refuse to buy them. Better still, if the membership were made three dollars a month during the season, such monthly ticket to include a member and his wife, or two dollars a month for both men and women, the sum raised would be more than sufficient to meet the club's expenses, including the expense of importing outside teams. For those willing to pay the whole amount at once a reduced rate could be given.

It might be answered that this would involve a lot of bookkeeping and collecting, but both the bookkeeping and the collecting could be done easily enough by any one of probably a thousand experienced shroffs that are available in this town, although Goodness knows it would be a crime to high heaven to add to the number of shroffs that are already doing their durndest to make this place totally uninhabitable.

Either something along this line will have to be done, or the baseball public in Shanghai will have to be satisfied with an exclusive diet of sailor games—not that sailor games are unpalatable, but man cannot live by seafood

Cook Freed On Assault Charge

Leu Kyung-yoong, a Chinese cook, who was charged by his employer, Mrs. Meloslavin, a Russian, with assaulting her by striking her on the mouth with his fists, was discharged in the Mixed Court yesterday when the court held that the evidence was not conclusive. Mrs. Meloslavin in a statement presented to the court alleged that the cook struck her when she attempted to pay him $3. The cook denied this and countered with a charge that Mrs. Meloslavin had refused to pay him.

REPARATIONS CONFERENCE FAILS, FRENCH UNYIELDING

Poincare Refuses To Give In On Payments

ENVOYS TO LEAVE

No Fears Felt For Continuation Of Entente

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 14.—It is now definitely stated that as far as the question of reparations is concerned the inter-Allied Conference has broken down.

This afternoon's plenary session will discuss the economical and financial situation in Austria.

It is understood that the main rock over which the Conference split concerned the question of control of German State mines and forests of the Rhur Valley and occupied Rhineland.

M. Poincare insisted that Allied control would yield a very large sum in the way of guarantees.

The British considered the scheme economically unsound as it would create the risk of the German miners striking if subjected to Allied control.

Italy and Belgium shared the French views with modifications.

At this morning's meeting of the three Allied Premiers, Signor Schanzer and Baron Hayashi the proposal was made, according to a French source, that a provisional moratorium should be granted now and a final decision be taken in three months' time.

M. Poincare absolutely opposed any moratorium without guarantees.

PLENARY SESSION

A plenary session of the Conference will be held at five o'clock this afternoon. The position is regarded as most grave.

A strong impression prevails that the Allied Conference has broken down. A definite statement is, at the present moment, unobtainable.

The Allied Premiers, Baron Hayashi and Signor Schanzer attended a session at Downing Street this morning, which adjourned at lunch time when it was noticed that M. Poincare shook hands with M. Theunis, the Belgian Premier, and other delegates as if saying farewell.

The Cabinet meets this afternoon, after which an announcement is expected.

(French Wireless Through Reuter)

Paris, August 14.—At today's meeting of the Allied Conference in London efforts were made to come to a decision on the German moratorium question. M. Poincare maintained his opposition to a moratorium without securities.

The delegates found it impossible to come to an agreement.

They separated, declaring that they would consider the question further; but as no meeting was fixed it now seems almost certain that the conference will break up without coming to a decision.

A meeting of the British Cabinet has been called for this afternoon.

The French delegation will leave London tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock.

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 14.—The Conference has agreed to refer the Austrian question to the League of Nations.

London, August 14.—The Clearing House debts question has been settled by the Conference adopting the Expert Committee's proposal that Germany must pay the £2,000,000 due August 15 within four weeks.

TO TREAT SEPARATELY

After that the various Governments will arrange separately with Germany regarding the payment of their nationals' debts subject to the Reparations Commissions' approval.

MM. Poincare and Theunis declared that the proposals involved a sacrifice of principle but they agreed to them for the sake of Allied unity.

London, Aug. 15.—The breakdown of the Conference is generally deeply deplored. M. Poincare has again affirmed that France is now free to take independent action against Germany if outvoted on the Little Hsu Here; Issues Lengthy Manifesto In Own Defense; Invites Queries

Disposed General Defies Complainants Who Charged Him With Treason And Corruption And Submits Himself To Examination

After remaining quiet for almost two years, General Hsu Shu-tseng, popularly known as "Little Hsu" who was defeated during the Anfu-Chihli struggle in 1920, has hurled a literary bomb into Shanghai newspaperdom in the form of one voluminous book and one lengthy manifesto.

The book is entitled "National Reconstruction" in which the former High Commissioner for the Defense of the Northwestern Border gave scholarly discussions on politics, education, militarism, social reform, finance and a host of other domestic subjects.

The manifesto, though primarily intended as a press agent announcement for the book, contains several startling revelations in the Mongolian situation and several daring statements by the author. In this, General Hsu challenged the public and press for their blind endorsement of the charges brought against him by his enemy and offered himself to pay the supreme sacrifice if any or all the charges alleged were proved with concrete evidence.

Little Hsu is in Shanghai, but refrains from giving the public the exact locality of his habitation, because his "only means of self-preservation today is to live in hidance." But he promises to come to the fore and face the music as soon as he is assured that he will "not suffer any illegal process."

The text of his manifesto is as follows:

AN OPEN LETTER

"Following the struggle between the Ting Kuo Army and the Chihli forces in the summer of 1920, I left my office to live in exile. Several shifts had to be made by me to avoid any danger befalling me. Indeed I was living in a life of concentrated agony and peril. It was my intention to live forever in hermitage and away from the world and patiently wait for the rise of some worthy hero to clear up the political situation, increase the national prestige and bring happiness to the populace. In such case, I would have gladly spent the remaining part of my life in relaxation and in enjoyment of the happiness to be brought by peace and order.

"However, during the last two years, the general situation has become more chaotic. The hardship created on the people has become more severe. Conditions are worse than what we could ever imagine. Our mandarins have been ruling over us, grinding their teeth to suck the very blood out of our social body and fatten themselves on the very sinews of our lives. I am not surprised at the conduct of the mandarins, but I am surprised that our people could tolerate the imperialism and repression without devising some means whereby these foul deeds may be brought to an end.

FALSE DOCTRINES

"The crafty and intriguing politicians are consequently allowed to create clever names and systematically, persistently and deliberately inaugurate bogus movements to deceive the world by slyly veiling the false, vicious and pernicuous doctrines in order to strengthen their own position.

"Let us examine some of the principles or doctrines which they have advanced. There are clamors for the abolition of the Tuchun system, the disbandment of soldiers, the introduction of a system of federated self-governments and the election of office-holders by popular vote. There have been many conferences. There have been exchanges of emissaries from 'big interests.'

Clayton Is Given 13-Day Term For Carrying Arms

George B. Clayton, an American, who shot himself while riding down Nanking Road in an automobile about a month ago, was sentenced to thirteen days imprisonment by U. S. Commissioner Nelson E. Lurton yesterday on a charge of carrying arms. The Commissioner ordered that the sentence was to date from the time of his incarceration, and that if employment could be found for him on a ship bound to America he should be released. Inspector Kerrigan appeared for the police. Major Holcomb, who was appointed to defend Clayton, put in a plea for clemency. Clayton, he said, had served in the war, and was in ill health. He would undertake to see to it that Clayton was sent home.

Chang Dodges On Question Of Giving Up Salt Revenues

Peking, August 15.—Mr. Lenox Simpson has returned from Mukden, where he went to investigate the questions of the Peking-Mukden Railway and the Manchurian salt revenues.

He stated that after a great deal of discussion General Chang Tso-lin consented to restore the rolling stock and allow resumption of ordinary traffic, on one condition, which he communicated to the President this morning and which will be available for publication as soon as the matter has been considered by the Government.

Regarding the salt question Mr. Simpson said that the position is more complicated, General Chang's position being that inasmuch as the other provinces are retaining their salt collections and Fengtien has remitted $4,800,000 to the Government this year it will require a special salt conference at Peking of all the provinces to secure a general resumption of payments.

DR. SUN'S MANIFESTO SETS FORTH DEFINITE REUNIFICATION PLANS

Constitutionalist Movement To Be Considered As Ended, Southern Leader Declares, When Parliament Again Is Permitted To Function Unhampered By External Influences

GIVES PLEDGE TO SUPPORT ITS ACTS

Document Reviews Events Of Recent Revolt In Canton Of Gen. Chen Chiung-ming And Sets Forth Aims In Coming To Shanghai To Confer With Northern And Other National Leaders

While conferences of the various northern and other national leaders with Dr. Sun Yat-sen continued through the day yesterday the outstanding development of the day was the issuance by Doctor Sun of his promised manifesto.

As outlined in the statement that Doctor Sun made on the day of his arrival the manifesto reviews events of the revolt at Canton of Gen. Chen Chiung-ming and sets forth definitely the position that Doctor Sun is taking with the aim of effecting reunification of China.

Convocation of parliament by Peking recently is taken by Doctor Sun as a move prompted by a sincere desire to reunite the country and upon this basis Doctor Sun says in his manifesto that when parliament again is functioning freely and unhampered by external dictation then the Constitutionalist movement shall be considered as ended and its aims accomplished. He gives the pledge that when such a lawful parliament is functioning he will obey its decisions and give his support to its acts.

Doctor Sun points out that the present urgent need of the Nation is that means shall be devised to bring real peace to the Country. He refers to the declaration he issued on June 6, reaffirming the view he gave in that declaration that military battalions should be transformed into labor battalions.

TRANSLATION OF MANIFESTO

The manifesto was issued today and is being published today by all Chinese papers. Following is a summarised translation of the document:

"The struggle during the past six years has been between the law-defenders and the law-breakers. I could not remain inactive while the law-breakers were destroying the Republic. I therefore initiated the Constitutionalist movement. The absence of a properly constituted government in the country created an extraordinary national situation, which Parliament decided to meet by entrusting me with the establishment of a government. I accepted the task in order to carry out the Constitutionalist program. "During the last few months, victory after victory was won by our forces in Kiangsi and the prestige of our cause spread far and wide. At this stage, the Chihli military leaders evinced their respect for the law of the land. Feeling that their changed attitude would facilitate the reunification of the country, I made the declaration of June 6, in which I indicated the terms that would secure reunification.

THE CANTON REVOLT

"Unfortunately on June 16, rebellion broke out in the very stronghold of the Constitutionalists. The Government was subverted and Parliament dispersed by force. I held on because it behooved me not to surrender to brute force. I ran risks and brushed aside difficulties. For two months I maintained the situation and held the rebels at bay. As the situation could not be improved by my indefinite stay at Canton, I decided to leave the task of pacifying Kuangtung to the various military units and to come to Shanghai to confer and co-operate with those of like mind regarding the national situation.

"Regarding the origin of the rebellion at Canton, it is obvious that the versions and accounts given by Chen Chiung-ming and his underlings are illogical and contradictory. If they say that I ought to have retired because the Constitutionalist aim has been accomplished, I have to direct attention to my Declaration of June 6 last in which I marked out the way towards reunification of the country. This is matter of public knowledge. As I accepted from Parliament the task of upholding the Constitution, I could not well leave my post without devising or trying to devise means of guaranteeing or arranging peace and examining into the sincerity of the Chihli military leaders.

ESCAPED DEATH TRAP

"The truth is that the talk of my political retirement was heard only after the outbreak of the rebellion and was noised about by Chen in order to mask his real object. The real facts are that Chen instigated the Second Division to commence the attack, first looting and then bombarding and committing incendiarism. He was determined to destroy the Government and to drive me into a deathtrap.

"The Second Division consists of Hunan troops. If the latter had succeeded in murdering me, the entire burden of the crime would have rested on them and Chen Chiung-ming hoped to escape responsibility and even to rid himself of the Hunan troops whose presence in the Canton army is not viewed by him with much favor. But I escaped. And he accordingly tried to camouflage.

his attempted assassination a movement to force me into political retirement. It is curious to note that Chen even addressed me as President in an autograph letter which I received from him while on board my cruiser off the Whampoa.

"But if Chen Chiung-ming desired to murder me for personal

League Plan For Fighting Opium Traffic Adopted

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 15.—The League of Nations announces that twenty of its members, including the principal European countries together with Germany and also China, India, Japan, Siam and the British Colonies, have accepted the system of import certificates recommended by the Opium Advisory Commission.

The Daily News pays a tribute to the League's accomplishment and says that a certain degree of illicit traffic in opium will no doubt survive as it has survived in the slave trade in the face of an international agreement but there has been enormous moral gain in that the countenance of the Governments have been withdrawn from it and that condign punishment will hereafter follow its detection. Great Britain by her leading part in the change has done something to atone for the long disgrace of her enforcement of Indian opium upon China.

Canadian Pacific Appoints Cameron Oriental Manager

New operating and traffic headquarters for the Canadian Pacific Steamships, Ltd., will be established on October 1, with the appointment of Mr. Allan Cameron in charge, according to word received by the local offices of the company from the head offices in Montreal yesterday. He will have the title of Oriental Manager.

Mr. W. T. Payne, who has been manager for the company for Japan and China, has, at his own request, been granted leave of absence and sails from Yokohama on the S. S. Empress of Australia on Sept. 2.

or private revenge, what grievance had he against the people? Since June 16, he has allowed his troops to indulge in a campaign of repine and pillage, causing incalculable loss and damage to the people of Canton and extending lawlessness and terror to the regions of the North River where many districts have been plundered and suffered as if swept by flood.

"It is indeed heart-breaking to speak of what the people have undergone in the ravaged areas. And though Lung Chi-kuang and Lu Yung-ting harassed the people and were unpopular, they never dared to permit their troops to pillage and ravage as Chen's soldiery has been allowed to do. The reason for all this rapine and pillage is that Chen Chiung-ming consented to it in order to induce the troops to participate in the rebellion. One who could set soldiers loose on defenceless people is indeed brutal and inhumane. We deplore such acts even if committed by barbarous tribes. Who could think that the instigator of such dark deeds could be a fellow-countryman and, what is worse, an old follower?

THE SITUATION TODAY

"As regards the national situation, the Constitutionalist movement is to be considered terminated and its aim accomplished when Parliament is again functioning completely and freely. What, however, is immediately urgent is to devise means and security for permanent peace. I still regard the scheme of forming labor battalions out of disbanded soldiers, as outlined in my Declaration of June 6, as a good prescription for the national ill.

"As regards the people's economic problem, industrial development should be promoted in order to secure improvement and amelioration in the livelihood of the people. Regarding political questions, local self-government should be encouraged. By local self-government is meant a government of the people by the people and for the people—and not the sort of government which the militarists mask under the name of local government but is in reality a reversion to the conception of the country as feudal property.

"The district should be the basis of real local self-government. Very briefly, these are the essential features of the program for the nation's reconstruction.

"I shall do my utmost to have this program carried out. I have already devoted more than 30 years of my life to the revolutionary cause and inaugurated the Republic. I shall continue to work for the country, regarding all those to the Republic as friends and those disloyal to the Republic as enemies. I shall be guided solely by duty and press forward with my full strength. Dangers and difficulties shall not deter me. I am resolved to have the Republic a reality in fact as well as in name to the end that the people may enjoy the fruits of just government. When this comes to pass, I shall consider my work as done."

Hupeh Merchants Plan "Tax Strike" To Thwart Tuchun

(Independent News Service)

Hankow, August 10.—The delay on the part of Peking in settling the civil governor quarrel in Hupeh is giving time for fresh troubles by factions taking sides with Tuchun Hsiao Yao-nan and Civil Governor Tang Hsiang-ming. The latter has now strong support by organisations in Hupeh, although General Hsiao Yao-nan has got on his side those unscrupulous militarists who recently crowned him concurrent civil governor.

Popular organisations in Hupeh, such as the Wuhan and the Associated Provincial Chambers of Commerce, have now formed a Federation of Public Bodies of Hupeh to enforce popular sentiment by forcing the militarists to give up the civil post. The Chambers of Commerce threaten that should General Hsiao Yao-nan insist on retaining the civil governor's position, they would initiate a provincial strike so that the 69 hsien Chambers of Commerce would stop paying taxes to the provincial government. Much propaganda on "No taxation without representation" has been put forth by the Associated Chambers among local chambers in Hupeh.

Eight Chinese Shops Damaged By Blaze

Eight shops were damaged in a blaze which swept through a section of Chinese buildings at the corner of Miller and Woochang Roads last night.

The alarm was turned in from Hongkew watch tower at 9:43 p.m. and Hongkew Division of the Department on arrival found the buildings affected a mass of flame. It took half an hour of hard work to bring the fire under control. The eight shops were damaged on the first floor by the blaze and slightly damaged below by water. The extent of the loss could not be ascertained last night.

alone, any more than he can exist on a unchanging menu of bread.

Manager Gallop's big problem, just now, is to pay for the games already arranged, and have something left over for starting operations next spring. Next year, the manager says, the stands will have to be replaced, and new uniforms will have to be purchased. This is going to involve an outlay of something in the neighborhood of three thousand dollars before a game is played, which is the big reason why this additional charge of one dollar has been slapped on to non members (including the wives of members) for the present series.

It is not an unreasonable charge, and none of the fans will think so if they will reflect that at the present rate, viz, ten dollars for a season of upwards of fifty games, they are getting baseball for less than it is being played anywhere else in the world, in all probability. Certainly for much less than they could see baseball of similar caliber at home.

Next year the management should work out an estimate of the season's probable expenses, and then fix a charge to cover it, this to be paid either monthly or in a lump sum. That will enable the club to get away from these annoying "extra" charges that are objected to, not so much because of the additional money involved, but because they constitute, in the minds of the fans, a breach of contract; unintentional, of course, but a breach just the same. When a fan is told in the spring that his ten dollars "will cover everything" he doesn't like to be called upon later for an assessment.

None of the above is meant to be in the least critical of the present management, which certainly has done wonderfully well this season. It is meant, rather, to explain why the extra charge is imposed in the present instance, and to put out, suggestively, a few thoughts for next season.

Public Is Opposed To Militarists, Says Gen. Tang Chi-yao

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, August 15.—The Cabinet today issued a lengthy telegram from General Tang Chi-yao to the President and Parliament in which he reviews the growth of military autocracy since the revolution. He says that he abolished the Tuchunate of Yunnan and planned the disbandment of troops in June 1920 but circumstances arose which prevented their fulfilment. A wave of public opinion is now surging against militarism and in favor of a provincial federation which he considers the fundamental principle in attempting to remedy the existing conditions in China.

"With a view to carrying out the abolition of the Tuchunate and strengthening the self-government system, I have organised a provincial government in Yunnan which will carry on the administration under the direction of the Central Government. Pending the election of a Civil Governor by the people, the various public bodies requested me to act as Civil Governor. Complying with this request, I abolished the post of Commander-in-Chief."

Conference Fails, French Unyielding

Reparations Commission, which the Coalition organs think will signify the tearing up of the Treaty of Versailles. It is hoped that a harmonious solution will yet be found, possibly by a later conference at which reparations and inter-Allied debts will be considered together. It appears that at the last stage of the Conference, France stood alone in her refusal of the final compromise proposals, involving an adjournment until after the Allies had carried out the funding operations with the United States and the immediate application of the guarantees already demanded from Germany by the Committee of Guarantees.

It is pointed out by the Independent Liberal organs that Mr. Lloyd George might still secure an acceptable settlement by offering to remit France's war debts in return for a more reasonable view on reparations.

The Coalition organs reason with France in a friendly tone but in more or less strong terms.

The Morning Post and the Times concur in thinking that new men are needed to take the reins of the British policy, the cornerstone of which should, according to the Post be a sensible understanding with France.

The Daily Mail declares that the British people are not going to allow any British administration to quarrel with an ally for the satisfaction of the Germans.

London, August 15.—It appears that the Australian Note considered by the Conference requested a further loan of £15,000,000, declaring that unless the money is forthcoming the Government will be obliged to declare its inability to carry on.

Mr. Lloyd George pointed out that £12,500,000 had already been advanced without any appreciable improvement and that it was only fair to tell the League of Nations that the Powers all felt extreme difficulty in making further subscriptions.

London, August 14.—Doing his utmost to bridge the differences between M. Poincare and Mr. Lloyd George before the breakdown, Signor Schanzer proposed a postponement of the conference for six or eight weeks. Mr. Lloyd George accepted the proposal but M. Poincare stipulated that in the meantime Germany should meet her obligations. Signor Schanzer and the British Premier dissented but offered to allow the Reparations Commission to decide the German payments during the adjournment. France disagreed upon which the negotiations ended, Mr. Lloyd George declaring: "We agree to disagree."

Fears that the breakdown would involve a breach of the Entente were allayed by the fact that M. Poincare subsequently joined in with the others in considering the Austrian question.

The French and Italian delegations are preparing to leave tomorrow.

Paris, August 14.—The Reparations Commission has sent a Note to Germany in which it agrees to the suspension of the instalment due on August 15 until a definite decision has been reached.

Vladivostok Votes For Imperialists

Irkutsk, Aug. 15.—According to Japanese telegrams from Vladivostok, a recent meeting called to elect a new head of Government declared in favor of Imperial Russia; resolving that power to appoint the Chief Executive at Vladivostok lay solely with the Romanoff house. In the absence of a representative of the former Imperial family, however, it was resolved that General Dieterich should be placed at the head of the Government and the latter took the office of Dictator from M. Merkulov on August 8. On August 10 the conference adjourned after appointing an executive council of 40 members and, inter alia, resolving that all Republicans and Socialists should be expelled from the Maritime Province. M. Merkulov was appointed to represent the new Government at Washington.

Has anything been done yet? Has any one even experimented on the proposal yet? If the proposals are carried out, will they benefit us? Or will they harm us?

BOOK OF EXPERIENCE!

"Living in retirement as I do, I have plenty of leisure hours to investigate, study and draw conclusions on political problems. With what I have personally seen and experienced during the 20-odd years of my political life as basis for my argument and reasoning on the investigation of popular grievances and plans for the salvation of the nation, I spent last year a score of days for the writing of a book on 'National Reconstruction.' It consists of 33 chapters: the opening of each chapter being devoted to description while the remainder, to conclusion. It consists of about 35,000 words. Every sentence or word was uttered with a clear conscience. Only facts are related because I hold neither any malice nor any obligation towards any one. There is not a particle of surmise of conjecture. Over 10,000 copies were printed in the winter of last year. I wished to have them sent out broadcast to the public so that I might study with it the pros and cons of the various questions raised in the book. But on second thought, I felt that I should improve myself in actual force and power and then exert them for the good of the nation and that I should not dazzle the eyes of the world with my literary elucidation. Consequently, the books were kept in suppression without given any publicity.

NO GOVERNMENT HERE

"This Spring a few were circulated among my friends, who were requested to make judicious use of the work and to give it no exposure. Since then, I have been traveling, but achieving very little for my own aspirations. The political situation is undergoing a colossal crisis. The nation is divided and sub-divided. No government is in existence. The army is disorganised. Brigandage plays havoc everywhere. Ugly reports are pouring in every day from everywhere. Should this state of affairs be allowed to continue for any length of time, ruin and destruction will be brought to the door of every citizen!

"The book on 'National Reconstruction' is being sent to you for your sympathetic perusal.

"If the reader is a political factor, he will be assisted in his attempt to understand how to administer the people. Students of political science will through this work understand the general conditions of China. Readers with less experience than I have may be benefited by the past events of my checkered life while those with knowledge superior to mine may find certain suggestions worthy of their consideration and carrying out. All I hope is that some of the workable plans be carried out at an early date so that the people might enjoy their persuit of happiness at the earliest possible moment. Although I had suggested the plans, it is not necessary that I should carry them out myself. All those who are interested in the affairs of the nation may work out these problems for the good of the public. If some of the plans cannot be carried out at once, the idea should be made known so that those who are interested may be guided by them, while strange and intriguing doctrines might not receive the support of the ignorant mass.

"Any way, the discussion I presented in my book is indicative of my aspirations to exert my energy to serve my country and people and should not be ignored by any gentleman with a broad viewpoint on our body politic.

DISMISSAL ILLEGAL

"There is another thing which I would like to add in defense of myself. I was appointed High Commissioner for the Northwestern Border, holding concurrently the office of the Commander-in-Chief of the Forces along the Northwestern Border. The year before last, the Government violated its constitution and issued an illegal order for my dismissal. Since it was not in conformity with the laws of the Republic and should not have any effect, I dared not to bow to the authority and I resisted. However, I was forced to flee for personal safety and was compelled to withdraw temporarily from my office. On the other hand, the Government openly ordered for my arrest and secretly despatched desperadoes to take my life. Being anxious to destroy me, it was not content merely to throw me out of my position.

"It was my privilege to know that the rights of the citizen of a Republic is clearly defined. They are unlike those of a subject under imperialism where the power of life and death is vested in an absolute tyrant. I can be deprived of my political power. I can be disarmed. I need not even claim privileges on account of my service to the country. But I cannot sacrifice my life except for a deserving cause. Therefore, I have been reserving my vitality for a higher sacrifice.

PRESS CHARGED HIM

"When the government condemned me and stripped myself of my dignity and honor, I paid little attention to its action, because it did not worth my protest. The press at that time, however, took the matter into their own hands, bringing serious charges against me and accusing me of all kinds of crimes, conveying the impression that I deserved all the condemnation and reproach from the government. I was charged with treason, with being pro-Japanese with having allied myself with bandits, with having borrowed from Japanese for military purposes and with having employed Japanese for the training of troops. Innumerable charges were brought against me. The nation blindly joined in the campaign and I appeared as the arch-criminal in the eyes of the world and appeared to deserve death and destruction. This is what I have never been able to understand!

"In the course of my service to the nation, I traveled extensively in Outer Mongolia, working for the betterment of conditions there. I succeeded in cancelling its autonomy and started on its work of rehabilitation. Banks were established. Motor car services were inaugurated. Public roads were repaired. Hospitals were erected. The tariff system was adjusted and reclamation companies established. Did the government give me any financial assistance? The records of finance are still kept intact. It is not difficult for any one to find out the facts. I had to go through the most bitter experience to realise the achievements. I had to do lots of borrowing and advancing on behalf of the government. For two years, not only I had not received a single cash for my own salary but I had to borrow funds for military and administrative expenses. At present, although I am living in exile, I have to pay on behalf of the government several tens of thousands of dollars of interest on loans which I had secured for public use.

PRAISES TUAN

"I was fortunate that some accomplishment was made in Outer Mongolia. It was due to the prestige then enjoyed by China as well as the efforts of that section of China to remain loyal to the Republic. Marshal Tuan Chi-jui contributed his important share by standing firm on his policy towards the great section where the gentry and merchants also gave sympathetic co-operation. It was truly through a combination of natural and individual forces which brought the dependency back to the fold. I was merely lucky enough to be instrumental in realising the achievements, but I dare not to claim all the credit that was brought by the accomplishment.

"Furthermore, while in office, perhaps it was my mistake to have failed to establish a foundation strong enough to perpetuate the arrangement. Hence the section was lost shortly after I left my office. Against supreme odds, my former followers, constituting a brigade under the command of General Chu Chi-hsiang, fought and succeeded in resisting the enemy for almost three months, during which no munitions were supplied by the government and no funds were given to the soldiery. Besides the local military leaders and rival officers were keenly jealous of the accomplishments of the brigade and sought to annihilate the entire unit. Over a battlefield of ice, these starving lads fought their last. The brigade, six thousand strong, was reduced to less than 1,200, others having perished. The earless and limbless ones braced up and made another desperate but heroic stand. Nevertheless, the power had been exhausted and the situation could not be saved. I was not personally present at the warfare. It is true that I felt sorry for the famished and abused dead.

PLEADS "NOT GUILTY"

"Notwithstanding, I am at a loss to know what crimes I have committed!

"Financially, the government owes me an abundance of money while I had never failed to account for every cash that went through my hand. Why should my residence and personal property be confiscated? Why should women and children of my family be molested? I am really at a loss to know.

"My private enterprises, including a printing plant, a booksellers' shop and a paper store, whose total capital is insufficient for the winnings of one throw of dice among the mandarins in Peking, have been confiscated. Even damaged books and odd pieces of lead met with the same fate.

"The Cher Chi School is my only enterprise which escaped destruction and is being taken care of by the Ministry of Education; and operated as usual. For this gracious act, I am grateful to the government.

"I do not know on what grounds those charges of treason and of allying myself with Japanese and bandits are based.

RAPS JUDICIARY

"If there had been a court of genuine justice in the country, I would not mind surrendering myself to it and submit the cons and pros of my case. But the nation is disrupt. There is not even a government! Still less an independent judiciary!

"However, in a Republic, it is in the people that the sovereign power is vested. Since there is no government, I am quite willing to submit myself to the judgment of the people! I ask every one of you to be my judge! I invite inquiries! If you have any questions concerning myself, my life or service, whether arising out of facts or from hearsay evidence, whether within the scope of my discussion in this letter or not, I shall answer you as fast as you can cause them to be published in the newspapers. If the question comes within the realm of law, I shall even go to the expense of employing lawyers to have the answer presented in legal form. If any of the charges mentioned above are proven with evidence and I am found guilty of the accusations, I shall be willing and ready to sacrifice my life. For the satisfaction of my fellow-citizens and for the sake of my own honor and that of my parents, I shall put an end to my life!

"As my only means of self-preservation today is to live in hidance, I am reluctantly compelled not to disclose to the public my own hereabouts. But if there is any guarantee that I shall not suffer any illegal process outside any possible punishment which may result in the event of my being found guilty, I shall at once step out into the public limelight, ready for examination and cross-examination.

"If any offices or bureaus are entrusted to me or if any troops are placed under my command, I shall be glad to experiment with them on what has been said in my book and bring you the predicted results within a specified time. If I fail, I would also offer myself for punishment. In this manner, even if my life be sacrificed, I shall hold no malice towards any one.

FAMINE RELIEF

(Dalta News Agency)

Yokohama, Aug. 8.—"Hochi" in an editorial states that the European Powers would work much harder to relieve the famine-stricken people in Russia had the famine taken place during peaceful times. Now these Powers are busily engaged in the post-war reconstruction program.

Russia cannot expect too much help from them. The famine cannot be remedied by merely supplying the people with food-stuffs, there is a great need of cattle, agricultural implements, fertilisers and seeds, "Helping to relieve Russian famine means helping the economic revival of Europe itself," concludes the editorial.

JAPANESE IN SIBERIA

(Dalta News Agency)

Yokohama, Aug. 8.—According to statistical reports compiled by the Japanese Gendarmerie, there are only 3,386 Japanese residents at Vladivostok, 430 at Spassk, and about 1,000 at Nikolsk-Ussuryisk. Yet more than ten thousand Japanese soldiers are being stationed in the Maritime Province to protect their nationals.

RED CROSS GETS MORE DONATIONS FOR SWATOW AID

Additional contributions amounting to nearly $1,800 for Swatow relief work were reported yesterday by the American Red Cross Central Committee. These donations include $600 more from the Foochow Chapter of the American Red Cross, which had already placed $2,000 at the disposal of the Central Committee.

The executive committee of the American Red Cross, China Central Committee, met yesterday noon at the Union Club and decided to await further word from Swatow before dealing with the funds on hand. Wires were sent several days ago to the typhoon swept port asking what form the assistance from here shall take, whether more doctors and nurses are needed and whether the money available shall be sent to those in charge of relief work in Swatow or whether it shall be expended for medical supplies and foodstuffs. As yet no reply has come through.

It is expected that a considerable sum will be realised for the Swatow relief through the special benefit performance to be given tomorrow night at the Del Monte Cafe. The management has announced that an admission fee of $1—or whatever patrons desire to give—will be charged and that the whole amount, together with a percentage of the Cafe's business for the evening, will be turned over to the Red Cross. Mr. Brady, of the "Summer Follies" company is arranging a special program of numbers to be given by the clever "Follies" entertainers, while Hamilton and Mills have some new songs, the Lantz dorfs will do some of their sensational dancing and those attending are assured of a thoroughly entertaining show throughout.

Fighting Coolie Fined $10 For Assaulting Cop

The case of the three coolies, accused of obstructing a policeman while in the performance of his duty and assaulting him, which was remanded from last week, was heard yesterday in the Mixed Court before Assessor Jacobs and Magistrate Tsang Sung Kyien-woo, who was charged not only with assaulting a policeman but with being drunk and disorderly, was fined $10. His two fighting helpers were dismissed.

The evidence given by the Chinese police constable was that on the 5th, while he was on duty in Sinza and Stone Bridge roads, he saw 8 persons, all drunk, trying to get into two richshas. The richsh coolies refused to pull them and they beat them.

The policeman remonstrated with the first accused, Sung, who politely but firmly told him to mind his own business. Upon further interchange of conversational bon bons, Sung nonchalantly declared the policeman could take him to the station if he wanted to. However, when the constable took the inebriated talker at his word, Sung promptly caught hold of his uniform, tore it and generally mussed it and the wearer up, finally dragging him into a cigarette shop. Here the policeman just had strength enough left to blow his whistle.

When two more cops arrived on the scene of the battle the rambunctious Sung was finally subdued so that he could be arrested. The police returned to the cigarette shop later and caught the other two fighters.

After Illness

After the racking effects of fever, dysentery, cholera, colic, or bowel complaints, every part of the body needs strengthening.

It is not enough merely to take tonics or artificial stimulants, for only by building up every part of the body can health be regained.

SCOTT'S Emulsion is a pure combination of the world's finest cod liver oil with hypophosphites of lime and soda—which never fails to build up delicate men, women, and children. It enriches the blood and nourishes muscles, bones, nerves and brain. You will gain an increase in weight and strength by taking it.

Doctors know this well, and have continued to recommend SCOTT'S Emulsion during 48 years. But take care not to confuse SCOTT'S with other preparations of cod liver oil. If you buy a cheaper substitute, you will buy a cheaper effect.

Rollicking Days in Old Virginia

Those hardy tars liked the zestful flavor of Virginia tobacco. Starting from Jamestown, Virginia tobacco taught all the world the pleasure of smoking. Originally no other tobacco was cultivated.

Today there are many tobaccos; but, for cigarettes, Virginia is still the best liked. Virginia's golden sunshine and rich soil produce an appetizing freshness and a zestful taste that other tobaccos lack.

And in Old Mill cigarettes you smoke golden Virginia tobacco at its best. Try them today.

Also obtainable in handy slide packets of 10 cigarettes.

ROBERTS AND DAWSON WIN MEN'S DOUBLES FINALS IN STIRRING FOUR-SET MATCH

Beat Sheldon And Wade At Their Own Style Of Play By Careful, Accurate Tennis; Scores Were 1-6, 6-4, 6-3, 7-5; Record Crowd Attends

W. P. Roberts and V. S. Dawson took the Men's Doubles championship for 1922 yesterday afternoon on the Cricket Club court, over V. Sheldon and J. L. Wade before the largest crowd of enthusiasts that have ever attended a final in Shanghai. The match was won in three out of four sets, 1-6, 6-4, 6-3, 7-5.

The play, while not spectacular was full of fine interest from the first serve to scoring of the final point. It was expected that Roberts and Dawson would lose the first set on Dawson's known nervousness, but with the opening of the second set the hard fought and brilliant play anticipated failed to materialise. The gallery hoped for another spectacular competition such as marked the semi-final when the former champions, Toussaint and Carnavarro were defeated by Sheldon and Wade. There was none of this style of play however. There was a simple clashing of two teams evenly matched, playing almost the same game, but with one side, the new champions, playing more accurate tennis.

DAWSON CAME THROUGH

Dawson played right along with his partner in his last four sets, as per expectations, and in spite of an odd service style and an apparent anxiety came through strongly, particularly on placements and service points, though he also committed the most of the errors for his side. Roberts carried through in his usual steady and accurate style. He had the fewest errors in the match, and also the fewest earned points. Yet his play was the foundation for the win to the title. He held his partner up while he was settling to the game, and he built up a team style and a confidence that brought home the cup.

Sheldon and Wade both were wilder in their play than in the semi-final against last year's champions. The pair was not always in court position, with the result that ordinarily easy balls were reached only with desperate effort and many returns went wildly off the court or fell short into the net. Sheldon gave the opposition the most points on such play but Wade was not far behind him. The pair found that Roberts and Dawson were playing a game too much like their own, for opportunities at strong individual work. And the new champions played the steadier, the more accurate game.

STORY OF THE PLAY

The story of the match has little reading value, aside from a study of the summaries. Sheldon and Wade took the first set to five games to one without one going to deuce. Neither Roberts nor Dawson were in the game. They netted and outted many balls, were slow in handling serves and returns, and the Sheldon-Wade pair were counting placements and service points at a fast rate. In the seventh game the first deuce was reached after Roberts and Dawson had the count at 40-15, on Dawson's double serve and his out. Roberts followed with a netted return and Dawson drove one of Sheldon's fast one off the court.

In the second set games alternated until the score was at 4-all. Each player had won his serve. The third game went to four deuces on many smashing placements by Sheldon and Wade, coupled with fair opposition and their own errors. Sheldon finally got a service point through and followed immediately with a beautiful placement through the opposing pair. Wade lost his service in the ninth game on Sheldon's three outs and his own net. Roberts, serving, took the next game and the net entirely on Sheldon and Wade's errors.

In the third set Sheldon lost his service in the first game after one deuce on a placement by Roberts and Sheldon's net. Wade counted a nice kill for the first 'vantage after deuce, and Roberts put through one nice placement for his side. All other points were counted one errors. Each server won his game from then until the ninth and final game of the set when after a netted ball by Sheldon following a volleying rally in the fore court Dawson placed two and Roberts one.

Roberts lost his service in the first game of the fourth set when his side had scored but 15 on a placement by Dawson. Wade lost his service in the next game at the same score. Games alternated from then until the 11th when Roberts and Dawson ran out on the opposition's continued errors, taking the 11th game on Wade's three nets and one out, and the 12th on Sheldon's three outs and Wade's one wild return.

FILIPINOS TRAIN FOR OLYMPIC GAMES IN OSAKA

Plans are now under way for the Far Eastern Olympic Games to be staged at Osaka, Japan, in May 1923.

A call has been issued for the commencement of training in preparation for the coming carnival in Manila, when the athletes will be chosen.

Several stars of the last Philippines Islands team have left school and every effort is being made to round up these men. Those still in school are not causing as much worry to those in charge.

Providing all members of the team of two years ago respond, not many new men may be able to make the team. In fact the development of athletes in the Philippines appears to be on the decline with the burden of responsibility resting upon those who have been through the tough grind on several different occasions.

This is especially true as regards baseball, and it is very doubtful if any new faces will comprise the team this coming meet. This does not include the 43rd Infantry team which possesses several good players capable of making the team providing Army officials give the necessary sanction.

In the swimming events where the Philippines should show better than ever before there seems to be a great hole to plug. Under the able and conscientious guidance of Captain Parker, several good swimmers were developed from mere novices and since his departure this branch of sport has been practically neglected.

In view of the rapid strides that the aspirants for the swimming team made two years ago under his tutorship the possibilities of developing this talent to an even greater degree was not impossible and regardless of the fact that the Philippines Amateur Athletic Federation passed a ruling that a certain amount of swimming would take place yearly they did not follow this program last year.

The outlook for a winning aggregation from the Philippines to the Olympic games does not look impossible but it can be clearly seen that more live wires are needed to take an active interest in sports and bolster up the weak spots.

Not only are they needed badly but far more important than their interest is their ability.

Due to the sudden death of Mr. J. A. H. Thomas the track and field team is in need of a new coach and a man capable of replacing him is difficult to find.

Now that the call for athletes has been issued a thorough search for competent coaches and trainers must be made to insure those who qualify for the different branches of athletics the best training possible.

New Water Polo Club In Kobe Bids For Honors

Considerable enthusiasm of the foreign residents of Kobe in water polo has developed remarkably this season largely due to the initiative of Paul Houghton in organising the Arrow Water Polo Club which is challenging all clubs, both foreign and Japanese. The Arrow Club defeated the Koroen Club, a Japanese organisation, recently three goals to none.

The Arrow Club was defeated by the Kobe Regatta and Athletic water polo team in a close game three goals to four. Most of the members are young men employed by the foreign firms. Several of them are students in the upper classes of the Canadian Academy and the English Mission School. Houghton is manager of the club, and R. Down is the captain of the team.

There are 14 in the club, and at least one outside team, either Japanese or foreign, can be played each week. The members are practicing daily off the K. R. & A. C. boathouse at Mirume. Among the members of the Arrow Club are R. Down, Jack Moses, Fred Moses, Willie Arab, Arthur Boyer, Stanley Dresser, A. Dresser, Joe Dowling, O. Sammann, J. Olsen, A. Lange and B. Acheson.

Hongkong Jockey Club To Improve Track Facilities

Hongkong, August 15.—With the object of relieving the present congestion, a meeting of the members of the Hongkong Jockey Club today approved the Stewards' proposed scheme for improvement of arrangements at the race course for the pari-mutuel and the provision of a members' enclosure. A railed in enclosure at the paddock will be provided for the use of the general public and a paddock for ponies to parade before the race similar to that in Shanghai.

FORT MILLS TEAM HANDS OUT THIRD SUCCESSIVE BEATING TO SHANGHAI BASEBALLERS

Mumford Blanks Locals, 5-0, Soldiers Combing Ten Hits From Hopkins' Offerings; Civilians Get Bare Quartette Of Widely Separated Bingles And Never Threaten

Slugging consistently along behind Mumford, while Shanghai was unable to connect with the ball at the needful stages, in order to stave off a shut-out, the Fort Mills team gave the locals their third successive trouncing at the ball park yesterday afternoon.

Mumford, the rangy left-handed slab star of the soldier nine, held Shanghai to four thoroughly disconnected hits, only one of which had symptoms of blossoming into a tally. Hoppy, meantime, was hit safely ten times, the accumulation of swats resulting in four earned runs. The fifth of the soldier runs was consequent to Hoppy's caroming the ball off Cummings' bean and into center field when he tried to catch the Fort Mills left fielder off second in the fourth inning.

Shanghai at no stage looked like a possible winner of the contest, but the play was marked with occasional bits of flashy fielding which made things happier for the homeside spectators. Harry Kingman, frinstance, went back of first and negotiated a couple of dizzy one-handed stabs seemingly impossible to gather in. Wynn and Wilhoit in the outfield were also working at top speed and their efforts cut off a couple of runs which slower fielding would have allowed to pass to the army tally sheet.

The Fort clinched the game, as later developments proved, in the second inning, when Lowe laced the ball beyond centerfield for an incontestable homer. The fourth inning, when three more runs percolated through the circuit, put the contest in the refrigerator. The inning started off with Storaasli walking. He was cut down at second when Aldinger rapped to Hopkins. The Army first sacker took second without opposition, but later drew a throw from Hopkins which skidded off his pate and glanced away out into the field. While the pellet was being retrieved Aldinger crossed the plate. Cummings then singled to left. Lowe duplicated to the opposite garden, but fast fielding by Wilhoit held back the threatening run. Droski flied out to Wilhoit

Roth Files Another Action For Divorce

Following a long drawn out controversy between Mr. L. E. Roth and his wife which became the subject of a series of hearings in the Court of the United States Commissioner and in which a truce was arranged some weeks ago, Mr. Roth in the U. S. Court for China yesterday again field suit for divorce through his attorney, Judge Cornell Franklin.

In his petition Mr. Roth sets forth that he and his wife, who is a Russian, were married two years ago and as grounds for his action he charges Mrs. Roth with cruelty and misconduct.

Mr. Roth said yesterday that the recent reconciliation led to nothing. He related that recently by reason of his wife's misconduct he felt impelled to leave home and go to live with his mother. In order to obtain clothing he had left behind he said he visited his home several evenings ago and opening the door of a darkened room thrust in his hand to turn the light switch.

"She was sitting in a chair near the door," the aggrieved husband declared, "and she nearly bit off my thumb."

Japan Moves To Reorganise Army

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, August 15.—The first steps in military reorganisation were taken today when seven artillery regiments were disbanded and 326 field officers, including 42 with the rank of General, were officially placed on the waiting list. These changes involve promotions and new appointments among which Major-General Hayashi replaces Major-General Higashi as Military Attache in Peking, the latter becoming commander of the Shimonoseki Forts.

Fort Mills Again Defeat Shanghai

and then Mumford hit for two bases to center, scoring Cummings. Boralski singled to right, scoring Lowe, and Massie drew a walk, but the scoring ended when Kingman came to the stands for McGinnis' high foul. Droski scored the fifth run in the sixth inning, getting on through the fielder's choice as Lowe was shot dead at second and coming in on Boralski's triple beyond the right field crowd. This was another stage where Cy's fast fielding cut off a score.

Hopes for a Shanghai tally seemed roseate at only one stage of the proceedings. In the seventh Kingman, first man up, slapped the ball to left center and scampered clear around to the far corner. With Wall, Wynn and Scott coming up it looked like at least one for the civilians but Wall fanned out, Wynn rolled to short and Scott was thrown out by Mumford. No other Shanghai player reached second base, and only six got to daily even briefly at first.

The pastimers are on recess today the next game being tomorrow, when Shanghai and Fort Mills come together again at 4:45 p.m. The Meiji nine is scheduled to meet the soldiers Friday afternoon.

CORNERSTONE OF NEW PEKING "U" BUILDING IS LAID

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, August 12.—Peking University (Yen Ching Ta Xueh) formally laid the corner stone of the first building to be erected on its new site near the Summer Palace this afternoon. Despite the overcast sky, the scene was none the less picturesque with the setting of the Summer Palace and the Jade Pagoda in the background.

A little after four o'clock in the presence of the staff and many of the students, and other friends of the University, Dr. Stuart, President of Yen Ching, asked all to join in the singing of a hymn. This was followed by a reading from the Bible by a student representing the School of Religion, and then by prayer and a statement of the purpose of the building given in Chinese by Dr. Li Jung-fang, a Professor of the School of Religion.

Dr. Frank D. Gamewell, General Secretary of the Christian Educational Association in China, made a short address on the life and work of Dr. Ninde, late Bishop of the Methodist Church, in whose memory this School of Religion building is being erected. He explained how the money was given by an anonymous donor in America who admired the life of Dr. Ninde.

Dr. Stuart then asked Dr. Jacob Gould Schurman and Dr. Gamewell to lay the cornerstone. After this had been done Dr. Schurman made an informal address on education and schools in China, on which subject his long service in educational work gives him a firm foundation. Dr. Schurman was presented with the silver plated trowel made after the fashion of those used by the Peking masons.

After the benediction an inspection was made of the site and Dr. Stuart and Mr. Gibbs, the resident architect, pointed out the locations of the various buildings, of which it is intended to erect fifty. During the last few months construction work has been started on four separate structures.

The School of Religion Building was designed by Messrs. Murphy, McGill and Hamlin of New York and Shanghai. It will be in Chinese style and contain nine class rooms, six offices for the faculty, a small library and an auditorium with a seating capacity of two hundred and seventy.

A hermetically sealed copper box was placed in the corner stone. This box contained catalogs and announcements of the University, a copy of the Bible as it is now used in the Chinese language, daily papers, both English and Chinese, photographs showing the present state of construction of the buildings, a folder containing the signatures of those present, and other miscellaneous papers, all of which will be of interest when the box is exhumed in some far distant date.

The site of the University is along the Summer Palace road just north of Hai Tien, and was formerly the grounds of an old palace, the history of which goes back to Mongol times. However, it has been in ruins since 1860 and last year was purchased by the Directors of the Peking University from General Ch'en Shou-fan.

CHARGES DENIED

(Rosta News Agency)

Moscow, August 6.—The People's Commissariat for Foreign Affairs categorically denies the charges made by the Polish Government that the rights of the Roman Catholics in Russia have been violated. It further announces that the Soviet Government has made no discrimination of peoples of all creeds.

MINE PRODUCTS LESS

(French Wireless Through Reuter)

Paris, August 14.—In 1916, before the Bolshevik regime, 241,460 workers extracted twenty-nine million tons of coal in Donetz. In 1921 it required 500,000 workers to extract 4,500,00 tons.

POPE SLIGHTLY ILL

(French Wireless Through Reuter)

Paris, August 14.—The Pope became indisposed on Wednesday last as the result of a chill. Audiences were suspended.

He was better on Friday and his health was completely established by Sunday, when he celebrated Mass on a terrace of the Vatican in the presence of numerous association of workers.

EXTREMISTS ARRESTED

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, August 14.—All the members of the Egyptian Extremist Committee have been arrested at Alexandria. The Egyptian ministerial crisis has now terminated without the Cabinet resigning.

JESSE L. LASKY Presents
BRYANT WASHBURN
in
"A Very Good Young Man"

His family's reputation was in sad need of a vacuum cleaner after he got done repudiating his previous saintly reputation, but it got him the girl—and what do you care for his family reputation if you get fun and he gets the girl?

He was too good to be true. She could't believe that any young man could have habits so saintly. Result: she wouldn't take the solitaire.

So what do you think he did? When right to work like a regular fellow to make the family reputation a fit subject for the laundry!

That's where the fun starts in "A Very Good Young Man."

DON'T ALWAYS BELIEVE THE HOTEL REGISTER!

The name which the saucy-looking stranger wrote on the register was "Pansy O'Donell," but to astute Artie, the movie-mad hotel clerk just one look was enough to identify her as the celebrated Marie La Tour, "the maid of the screen", incognito. It did not take Artie long to spread what he thought was the gospel and so Pansy was in for a great adventure during the "two weeks with pay" at the summer hotel.

Pacific Mail To End Runs At Manila

(China Press Service)

San Francisco, August 14.—The Pacific Mail Steamship Company announced today that Manila will be the Oriental terminus of the Shipping Board vessels run by them instead of Hongkong beginning with the sailing of the President Pierce.

On inquiry at the local office of the Pacific Mail it was stated that this means that the routing of the Pacific Mail boats will be changed starting November 5. Instead of these vessels calling at Manila from Shanghai, they will leave Shanghai for Hongkong, from Hongkong for Manila, then Manila to Hongkong and Hongkong to Shanghai, instead of Shanghai-Manila, Manila-Hongkong, and Hongkong-Shanghai.

The President Cleveland and not the President Pierce, the local offices of the Pacific Mail state, will inaugurate the new change. The President Taft is expected to be here on October 2 and the President Pierce on October 23, The President Lincoln coming in between these two.

RUSS-ITALIAN TRADE

(Rosta News Agency)

Moscow, August 6.—A steamer of the Lloyd Triestino, loaded with 179 passengers and large quantity of cargo, consigned by the Commissariat for Foreign Trade, has sailed from Odessa for Italy. Regular steamship communications have been established between Odessa and Batum.

Joffe, Soviet Envoy, Greeted At Peking

(Rosta News Agency)

Peking, August 14.—The Plenipotentiary of the Russian Soviet Government to China and the Chief Delegate of the Russian Socialist Federative Soviet Republic for the Conference with Japan, Mr. Adolf Abarmovich Joffe, has arrived in Peking.

Mr. Joffe was met on the station by the Russian Missions, the Russian Residents and the Representatives of the news agencies. The foreign affairs ministry was represented by Councillor C. Chou, who delivered to Mr. Joffe a speech of welcome. Mr. Joffe answered Mr. Chou's speech.

Professor Ivanoff translated Mr. Joffe's speech into Chinese, stating that the Russian People's Government have profound sympathy with the Chinese people and great concern over the Chinese struggling for national independence. He said he would do his best to strengthen friendly relations between the Russian and Chinese peoples. The councillor, Mr. Chou, assured Mr. Joffe that the Foreign Ministry was inspired by the same desires.

Ocean Freights May Be Lowered

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, August 11.—A committee of shipping men sat in conference yesterday at the Communications Department when Viscount Mayeda, Minister of Communications, addressed them on the advisability of lowering freights to pave the way for the regulation of commodity prices.

Exchange Fluctuations

Asia Banking Corporation

August 15, 1922

Spot and forward Bar Silver were down ⅛d. yesterday in London the New York price declined to 68⅛ cents and the London New York cross rate to 446¼. The only change in our Official Rates here today was a rise in the Franc rate to 940.

Our market opened firm this morning with sellers of Sterling at 3-5⅝ and Gold Dollars at 76⅞ for all deliveries until the end of the year. While at one time there were buyers at these rates, the market later on in the day firmed up and at the Tiffin interval was strong with sellers of Sterling at 3-5 5-8 for September, forward delivery and of Gold Dollars at 77-¼.

While in the afternoon the market was firm it was perhaps a shade less strong than at the Tiffin interval, there being buyers of Sterling at 3s.5⅝d. and of Gold Dollars at 77⅛, with sellers at 3s. 5½d. and 77½ respectively, on which basis the market closed.

Banks were quoting 2-6¼ for Sterling Bills today and 78½ Gold Dollar Bills but were not anxious to buy Franc Bills at any price as the Franc Cross Rate has again risen.

India sold a small amount of silver in London yesterday and the market is reported as having closed steady. The New York market is firm with buyers at the Official quotation.

Singapore Rubber Auction

August 2, 1922

Following were the prices realised at our Auction this week:

Both London and New York have remained dull and unchanged during the past week at 7⅛d. and 14½ cents respectively. The local market has been very steady with a great deal of covering taking place at about ⅛d above the parities of the consuming markets. This morning there was a slightly easier feeling prevailing in the market.

The total quantity for sale at this week's auction amounted to 762 tons; of these 448 tons were offered and 302 tons sold.

Prices show an all-round decline on the week; the demand was altogether fair, but buyers were in general rather reserved.

A few lots of Awarded Singapore Standard Sheet were sold at 25 cents, but practically all sellers withdrew their lots at this figure, and disposed of the rubber in the outside market at slightly higher prices.

Sheet equal to Standard was in good favor at the above price, which marks a decline of ¾ cent.

Off Quality Sheets found buyers.

Awarded Singapore Standard 1st Latex Crepe realised 25¾ cents owing to a keen demand from "shorts."

Crepe equal to Standard was also shown a good deal of interest, but many lots were withdrawn as sellers' idea did not meet with buyers' limits.

Off Color Latex and Mottled Crepes were wanted.

Dark, Brown and Barky Crepes were on an average 1 cent weaker.

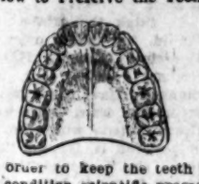
KINGMAN & BROS.
How to Preserve the Teeth



In order to keep the teeth in a good condition scientific precaution must be taken. Through negligence, decay and numerous other affections such as tooth-ache, dental periostitis, esteo-periostitis, necrosis of the jaw, etc., may arise. During the process of ingestion, there are settled on the teeth some deposits of mineral and organic matters, called tartar, which possesses a morbid power of pressing the gum. As an inevitable result of the presence of this tartar, the teeth will become elongated and movable and will, by degrees, absorb away the enamel, leading ultimately to the decay and degeneration of the teeth. The tartar is so hard and resistant to the process of brushing that it cannot be scraped off except with dental instruments specially devised for that purpose.

Dr. KINGMAN offers to the public his service for preserving their teeth at an annual subscription Fee of $10.00 per head to be paid in advance.

The work to be done by Dr KINGMAN to the subscribers consist in:—
(1) Cleaning of the teeth quarterly.
(2) Filling with gold platinum alloy only, when the teeth present holes.
(3) Inspecting the teeth at any time at the desire of the subscribers.

Mr. Cohen's Employes—And Others

WE are swamped with letters dealing with the ricsha strike. Some readers praise us for our attitude and some attack us. We cannot print all of these interesting letters today. Therefore we will open with the one which attacks us most enthusiastically. This is from Mr. R. S. Haskell, able young lawyer, who works for Mr. A. or B. Cohen, (anyway he is the A.B.C. of the ricsha industry), who works, as we say, for Mr. Cohen as efficiently and on as excellent terms, as any of Mr. Cohen's employes. Mr. Haskell says:

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS
Dear Sir:

I note with interest the prominence you have given my alleged remarks in the recent case where you say "seven" coolies are charged with inciting a strike of 300 coolies employed by the owner of the Star Vehicle Company in the West Hongkew District and beg to point out certain inaccuracies both in your first page article and your editorial.

In the first place not seven but five sub-foremen were charged. One of the five repented his acts and the charge was withdrawn by Mr. Cohen as to him, leaving only four charged—not seven.

In the second place the statement made by the writer was not as quoted. A comparison of what you allege and what was said might not be out of place.

Your statement is as follows:

"THE CHINA PRESS watches things like this and likes to publish long articles about them," said Mr. Haskell in addressing the court. "They like to make a scandal out of things like this. Those men are the ringleaders and are likely to cause trouble."

What I did say is this:

"The long article published by THE CHINA PRESS would lead us to believe that this incident is scandalous on the part of my client whereas the accused have committed acts which make them a menace to the community. If the ringleaders in incidents of this nature are not checked and dealt with severely we may have a repetition of the Hongkong strikes in Shanghai."

By this I meant, and I do maintain, that THE CHINA PRESS has not been correct in the position taken in the article referred to. The article published by THE CHINA PRESS contained many inaccuracies, just as your report of the hearing Friday morning contained the inaccuracies mentioned above and others. Here is a list of your mistakes in the report of the hearing:

1st. Numbers of accused, four—not seven.

2nd. Location of the trouble—Chapei not West Hongkew.

3rd. That the accused surrendered voluntary. As a matter of fact two were arrested on warrants and the others surrendered advisedly.

4th. Garbled report of the writer's statement.

The accused in this case are not ricsha pullers but sub-foremen who make their living by renting ricshas and letting them out to the coolies. If the owner of the Company is "exploiting" then so are the accused. Would you have the public believe that these sub-foremen are public spirited men bent on helping the poor ricsha coolie? The reverse is true. They are greedily out to help themselves by squeezing money out of the coolies for "strike" purposes, which money goes into their own pockets, and which strike if successful would benefit and was only aimed at benefiting the sub-foremen themselves and not the ricsha pullers.

I am in full sympathy with any scheme which aims at bettering the lot of the ricsha pullers but I see no reason for sub-stuff over the plight of the sub-foreman. I opposed bail for the sub-foreman on instructions from my client because I believed that it was for the best interests of not only my client but the ricsha pullers and the community at large that the incitors of the trouble and disturbance be confined at the time when they were most likely to create further trouble and disturbance. The fact that they live and do business in Chapei makes it difficult for the municipal police to secure their attendance in the Mixed Court.

It is a further significant fact that the ricsha pullers do not wish to strike and have not expressed any dissatisfaction. I am informed that the dissatisfaction is in the ranks of the sub-foremen who except for strict supervision would virtually enslave the ricsha coolies. The case against the sub-foremen is yet to be tried. The prosecution will only ask that they be dealt with justly; that their bit of bolshevism be nipped.

Perhaps you will be good enough to publish this letter and write another editorial, with corrections. I welcome your criticism but regret your mistakes. I am glad that you construed my alleged remarks as complimentary and hope that you will construe what I really said in the same light. In fact I did not intend to be complimentary, nor the reverse, but simply to point out what I honestly believed to be your mistake. "No, THE CHINA PRESS didn't make the scandal," I admit. It simply made mistakes.

And we all do that.

Very sincerely,
R. S. Haskell

P. S.—By the way, where did you get that "Benjamin" stuff? I have always known my client as "A. Cohen."

R. S. H.

Naturally you will first note the legal technicalities. It was in this district instead of that. There were four or five instead of seven (apparently). We here quote from the records of the Mixed Court: "There were five accused. . . two other men appeared in court voluntarily, but were not charged. All of the men surrendered voluntarily, two on warrants, and the others advisedly." Making, as we said, seven in all.

Second item: Chapei, not West Hongkew. The West Hongkew police station took jurisdiction. If the trouble had occurred in Chapei, the Chapei police would have made the arrest.

Third item: "That the accused surrendered voluntary. (The language throughout is Mr. Haskell's). As a matter of fact two were arrested on warrants and the others surrendered advisedly." The reply to this is covered in the foregoing. There were seven in the court room. Thus for Mr. Haskell's technicalities.

Next we come to Mr. Haskell's important statement that the accused "are not ricsha pullers but sub-foremen who make their living by renting ricshas and letting them out to the coolies." To dispose of an incidental technicality, Mr. Haskell is quoted in the official report as saying: "there was one other coolie who had already been before the court." The sub-foremen and the coolies!

But Mr. Haskell goes on to say: "If the owner of the Company is 'exploiting' then so are the accused. They are greedily out to help themselves by squeezing money out of the coolies for strike purposes, which money goes into their own pockets." etc.

Let us pause here to analyse this interesting paragraph. Who deals with the sub-foremen, and who hides behind them? Who engages them and who stands for their exactions? Does this person, whoever he is, agree to their extortions in order to bring about strikes? Does he want strikes? Could, shall we ask, the owner of the company put an end to these extortions made allegedly "for strike purposes." This paragraph is one of Mr. Haskell's very best.

And now finally to deal with what Mr. Haskell said about THE CHINA PRESS. His remarks as we pleasantly pointed out in our first editorial dealing with the subject were, however intended, complimentary. He now quotes, some three days after the event, what he thinks he said. We have only our own report and the official court record to go upon. Our report is quoted in his letter quite accurately. His report of the speech also is quoted. You have both versions before you. The exact words he used according to the official court record, taken both in Chinese and English, were: that "THE CHINA PRESS liked to publish articles about this strike and made a big scandal out of it."

We pause here to point out these significances: In one paragraph Mr. Haskell declares that "the sub-foremen are greedily out to help themselves by squeezing money out of the ricsha coolies for strike purposes." In the second paragraph following he declares that "but for strict supervision the sub-foremen would virtually enslave the ricsha coolies." But for the strict supervision of whom, Mr. Haskell?

The important point, of course, is: What did Mr. Haskell say? The official record quotes him as saying "THE CHINA PRESS liked to publish articles about this strike and made a big scandal out of it." This accuses us of having made the scandal, and at the same time confesses there is a scandal, no matter who made it. But in his letter to us Mr. Haskell admits "No, THE CHINA PRESS didn't make the scandal."

We now ask him, since he is fully conscious that we didn't make the scandal, WHO DID MAKE IT?

Subjoined will be found some other letters. Mr. Dalbey's contains several interesting suggestions. We point this out to him. The cigarette is the cheapest solace and comfort within reach of the ricsha puller. In many, probably most, cases, it is his only form of dissipation. He is not such a dissolute fellow, you know, this ricsha coolie, even if he does stay out all night, gadding about. Here are the letters:

Correspondence

HUMANITARIANISM

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Dear Sir: I cannot help feeling with the deepest gratification the vast interest evinced by you in connection with the Ricsha strike as a result of your timely exposure of the real causes of it. The Shanghai communities certainly owe you much for your bringing to light these conditions. I am very much the more impressed by the earnest appeal which was conducted voluntarily on behalf of the oppressed, by a member other than a Chinese. Mr. W. B. Lockhart's letter as it appeared in your valued paper, indeed, should be considered as a master piece on Humanitarianism and I hope that it has been brought to the attention of Mr. Cohen and has produced at least some right effect on him. After observing the facts as deduced by Mr. Lockhart, no one who possesses even an iota of the sense of feeling can but be moved with compassion. I cannot doubt that the grievances as addressed by the strikers was absolute truth, unless the owner of the Company is prepared to present his side of the question in the form of a public statement in refutation of these charges.

The cost of living has been so untenably high that no small amount of hardship has been created even in the middle class, and if such conditions as have been disclosed be permitted continuously to exist, the day will not be distant when human endurance will cease to become a virtue and then the very much dreaded Bolshevism will find an easy prey in the affected class in Shanghai.

The remedies as evolved by Mr. Lockhart and Mr. Huizinga appeared in your esteemed paper under dates of the 10th and 13th respectively, deserve serious consideration. I hope, therefore, that those who have the interest at heart for the maintenance of the peace and order of their communities, will lose no time in lending their strongest support in effecting this proposed scheme into proper working order that the stain which has been uncovered be forever eradicated. Enclosing my card, I am, faithfully yours,

P. Y. LO.
Shanghai, Aug. 15, 1922.

"NOT EVEN CIGARETTES FOR RICSHA COOLIES"

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Dear Sir: I have been very much interested in the discussion respecting the ricsha proposition. It is really a matter that should be given consideration, much has been said respecting the hardships of the poor ricsha coolie, which do doubt is all true; especially his not getting enough to eat. I notice, however, that they all can smoke cigarettes. I think if they could be induced to spend less for cigarettes and more for food, they would fare a little better along that line at least.

I think the ricsha business should be taken over by the Municipal Council. Have better ricshas! Select out the best runners. Have them pass an examination. Feed them well. The ricsha patron would be willing to pay for it. Have a "nickle in the slot" proposition. The money is put in before the ricsha starts; when the distance for which the amount calls for is exhausted, the ricsha stops. The ricsha when through goes to the stall nearest provided for it. This will stop haggling over price.

The tram is full to overflowing: Why should not the Council thus help in solving the transportation problem?

Very truly,
W. C. DALBEY.
Shanghai, Aug. 14, 1922.

IN PRAISE OF MR. LOCKHART

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Dear Sir: I wish to tell you how much my son and I both appreciate Mr. Lockhart's article of August 9. As he says, it is a blot upon the city's reputation to have such an army of hardworking, earnest men, every one of whom is in thread bare and tattered garments, on its streets. It is a crying shame and we are glad to know there are men in Shanghai, who are not thinking of self alone. We, who are born under better conditions, should be so thankful, that we should be willing to make continued efforts to alleviate and help these others. These are our brothers: it may not seem so: But "Sally O'Grady and the Captain's Lady are sisters under their skins." Thanking you again for constructive work as well. I am, respectfully,

MR. S. E. T.

Making Doctors Of Presidents Began With Washington

BY G. W. HARRIS

Warren G. Harding, upon whom Princeton University, on Friday, June 9, conferred the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws, is the twelfth President of the United States to hold this degree from Princeton, though some of his predecessors received the distinction many years before attaining the presidency, and some not until after their terms in the highest office of the nation had expired. The eleven others were Thomas Jefferson, who was honored with an LL. D. in 1791 (he was then Secretary of State in Washington's Cabinet and did not become President until ten years later); James Madison, in 1787; James Monroe, in 1822; John Quincy Adams, in 1806; James Buchanan, in 1850; Abraham Lincoln, in 1864; Chester Alan Arthur, in 1884; Grover Cleveland, in 1897; Benjamin Marrison, in 1889; William Howard Taft, in 1912, and Woodrow Wilson, in 1910.

Also, with this bestowal of a doctorate on President Harding, Princeton establishes a new record for the highest number of such honors given to Presidents of the United States by any college or university. Harvard comes next, with eleven Presidents numbered among its honorary alumni, namely: Washington, John Adams, Jefferson, Monroe, John Quincy Adams, Jackson, Grant, Hayes, Roosevelt, Taft and Wilson.

Yale stands third in the list of colleges that have thus doctored the nation's Chief Executives with honorary degrees, having conferred the L. L. D. on eight presidents, as follows: Washington, Adams, Jefferson, Hayes, McKinley, Roosevelt, Taft and Wilson.

Brown University and the University of Pennsylvania have each bestowed the same degree on five Presidents. Those receiving this honor from Brown were Washington, Adams, Jefferson, Taft and Wilson. Pennsylvania's list is Washington, Garfield, Roosevelt, Taft and Wilson.

Dartmouth gave its doctorate of laws to Presidents Adams, Monroe, Pierce and Wilson. Union College has honored with the same degree Van Buren, Grant, Arthur and Taft.

Columbia thus honored Lincoln, Johnson and Roosevelt. Williams College has conferred the LL. D. on Garfield and Wilson and an L. H. D. on Roosevelt. Presidents Hayes and Taft were made doctors of laws by Johns Hopkins and Woodrow Wilson took a Ph. D. from that university in course.

In this field of scholastic honors for Presidents, as in some other fields also, all precedents were broken by Theodore Roosevelt. He was the first President, or ex-President, of the United States to be honored for scholarly attainments by any foreign university, having received honorary degrees from no less than five universities in Europe and one in South America—namely, Cambridge, Oxford, Leipsic, Berlin, Christiania and Buenos Ayres. The only other President who ever received a like honor from any institution of learning not situate within the United States is Mr. Taft, on whom McGill University, at Montreal, conferred an LL. D. in 1913. Roosevelt was also the most doctored by the colleges of all the men who have been President, having been honored for his learning with a larger number and a greater variety of degrees than any other. Before his death he had accumulated no less than nineteen honorary doctorates and was entitled to write after his name fourteen LL. D's, one L. H.

Making Doctors Of Presidents Began With Washington

D., one D. C. L., two Ph. D.'s (Hon.) and one S. D. (Hon), besides the original A. B. with which he was graduated from Harvard.

Chief Justice Taft thus far has received fourteen honorary degrees, and next to Roosevelt's has the largest collection of such titles to distinction yet acquired by any of our Presidents. Mr. Wilson follows him rather closely with twelve honorary doctorates, all of which it is somewhat curious to note were conferred upon him before his election to the Presidency. His total is more than twice the highest number of honorary degrees given by the colleges of the country to any President before Roosevelt. Washington, Jefferson and McKinley each received five degrees. John Adams and Rutherford B. Hayes each received four. Monroe, Buchanan and Ulysses S Grant received three each. Five other Presidents (before Mr. Harding) received two each, seven received one each and four of the nation's Chief Magistrates managed to end their days without any recognition of learning or achievement from the colleges.

The record is interesting, but there is no rule or law to be deduced from it for thus designating the scholarship of American Presidents. Whom the colleges choose to honor they choose to honor, and there's an end on't. Here is the complete record. Its perusal will probably surprise most readers that so many of the Presidents—seventeen out of the twenty-eight—had received college training in youth; the wrong impression still exists in many quarters that a majority of the American Presidents were not college-bred men.

George Washington never attended college, never took any instruction in the ancient languages. His schooling was meager, yet at seventeen he was one of the most accurate land surveyors in Virginia. Long before he became President the Colonial seats of learning recognised his greatness. Harvard led the way by making him a Doctor of Laws in 1776. Yale followed suit in 1781, the University of Pennsylvania in 1783 and Brown in 1790. And before his death Washington College, of Maryland, also honored itself by giving its namesake the highest degree it could bestow.

John Adams was graduated from Harvard in 1755. His alma mater, in recognition of his scholarly attainments and public services, gave him an LL. D. in 1781. He received the same degree from Dartmouth in 1782, from Yale in 1788 and from Brown in 1797.

Thomas Jefferson was a classical student in childhood, retained his love for learning as long as he lived, and throughout his life was deeply interested in the cause of education, for which he did more than any other of the early Presidents. After retiring from the Presidency he founded a university and directed that the words "Father of the University of Virginia" should be inscribed on his tomb. He entered William and Mary College in an advanced class at the age of seventeen and was graduated in 1762. Just twenty years later that college gave him an LL. D. Yale did likewise in 1786, Harvard and Brown in 1787, and Princeton, then the College of New Jersey, in 1791.

James Madison was graduated from the College of New Jersey in 1771, and was honored by that college with the Doctorate of Laws in 1787. There is no record of any other collegiate honor for him.

James Monroe entered William and Mary College at the age of sixteen and left college two years later to take a lieutenant's commission in the Continental Army. Yet he is on the roll of the college as having received his A. B. degree in the year 1775. Harvard made him a Doctor of Laws in 1817. Dartmouth in the same year and Princeton in 1822.

John Quincy Adams was graduated from Harvard in 1787. Princeton conferred the LL. D. upon him in 1806 and Harvard rather tardily did the same in 1822.

Andrew Jackson had practically no schooling in his youth, and according to the slanderous legend still heard at times he was the most illiterate of all the Presidents. He had picked up enough learning to try school teaching in his teens and he was admitted to practice law when he was twenty. Harvard was glad to honor him with the doctor's degree, which it did in 1833.

Martin Van Buren received a good academic education, for the time, and began the study of law at fourteen. Union College honored him with his only degree, an LL. D., in 1814.

William Henry Harrison, whom his parents intended to make a physician, studied for a time at Hampden-Sidney College (Virginia), but there is no perfect record of the date of his entrance or the length of his stay. Soon after the Indian War broke out, when he was about nineteen, he laid aside his books to join St. Clair's army at Fort Washington, near Cincinnati, and opportunity never came for him to resume his studies. He was the first of the Presidents who never received a degree from any college.

John Tyler was graduated from William and Mary College in 1806. There is no record that he ever received any other than his bachelor's degree.

James Knox Polk was graduated from the University of North Carolina, at Chapel Hill, with the highest honors of his class, in 1818. He received an LL. D. from his alma mater in 1847.

Zachary Taylor never had any schooling but that of a modest home in the forest wilderness. He was the first President to be elected solely on a military reputation, and he died too soon after taking office for the colleges to discover whether he possessed qualities of statesmanship worthy of their recognition.

Millard Fillmore, owing to the poverty of his family, had no early educational advantages. Yet he was an insatiable student, and long before his political elevation he had made himself one of the most eminent lawyers of New York State. He was a man who would probably have appreciated collegiate honors more than most, but he never received any.

Franklin Pierce was a graduate of Bowdoin College in the class of 1824. In 1853 Bowdoin gave him an LL. D. Dartmouth also in 1860 thus honored him.

James Buchanan was graduated from Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pa., in 1809. A doctorate was conferred upon him by Dickinson in 1842, by Rutgers College in 1849 and by Princeton in 1850.

Abraham Lincoln had only the scantiest opportunities for education, and probably never saw even the outside of a college until middle life. Not until he was twenty-five did his circumstances permit him to take up the study of law. Columbia honored him with a doctor's degree in 1861, and thereby entered the list of the schools so signalising Presidential attainments. Princeton also gave Lincoln an LL. D., in 1864.

Andrew Johnson probably had less book learning than any other President. He never went to school, but was apprenticed to a tailor when ten years old, and not until after his marriage could he either read or cipher, his wife teaching him those accomplishments. Columbia made him a Doctor of Laws in 1865.

Ulysses Simpson Grant's early education was merely that of the common schools of his day, but by a conjunction of favoring circumstances he was enabled to attend the United States Military Academy at West Point, from which he was graduated in 1843. Union and Bowdoin colleges conferred the LL. D. upon him in 1865, and Harvard bestowed the same degree in 1872.

Rutherford Birchard Hayes was graduated from Kenyon College in 1842 and from Harvard Law School in 1845. He received the LL. D. from Kenyon in 1868, from Harvard in 1877, from Yale in 1880 and from Johns Hopkins in 1881.

James Abram Garfield, in spite of early disadvantages of the heaviest kind—the struggles of his father while he was a mere child—managed to enter Williams College in June, 1854, when he was twenty-three, in a class two years advanced. He was graduated in 1856. Williams made him a D. L. in 1872. The University of Pennsylvania also honored him thus in 1881.

Chester Alan Arthur was graduated from Union College with high honors in 1848, at the age of eighteen. He received a doctorate from Union in 1882 and from Princeton in 1884.

Grover Cleveland had to leave school early because of the death of his father. He did not have a college training. Nor did he receive any collegiate honors until 1897, when Princeton gave him an LL. D.

Benjamin Harrison was graduated from Miami University (Oxford, Ohio) in 1852. He received the LL. D. from Princeton in 1889.

William McKinley matriculated at Allegheny College, but had been there only a short time when his studies were interrupted by the outbreak of the Civil War, and he never completed his college course. After his election to the Presidency he was the recipient of the LL. D. degree from Yale and the University of Chicago in 1898, from Smith College in 1899, from the University of California in 1901, and of a D. C. L. from Mount Holyoke in 1899.

Theodore Roosevelt was graduated from Harvard in 1880, "magna cum laude." He received an LL. D. from Northwestern University in 1893, and was honored with the same degree by Columbia in 1899, by Hope College (Michigan) and by Yale in 1901, by Harvard in 1902, by the Universities of Chicago and California in 1903, by the University of Pennsylvania, Clark University (Mass.) and Tufts College in 1905, by Leipsic (Germany) and George Washington University (D. C.) in 1909, by Cambridge (England) in 1910, and by the University of Buenos Ayres in 1913. Williams College gave him an L. H. D. in 1905. Oxford (England) conferred on him the degree of D. C. L. in 1910, and in that year also the Universities of Berlin (Germany) and Christiania (Norway) each created him a Doctor of Philosophy (honorary). Trinity College (Conn.) made him an honorary Doctor of Science in 1918.

William Howard Taft was graduated from Yale in 1878 and received a Bachelor of Laws degree from the Cincinnati Law School in 1880. Yale made him a Doctor of Laws in 1893. John Hopkins and the University of Pennsylvania gave him the same degree in 1902. Harvard and Miami in 1905, Iowa State University in 1907, Western University (Conn.) in 1909, Princeton in 1912, McGill (Montreal) in 1913, Amherst and Brown in 1914, Union College in 1917. Mr. Taft received the degree of D. C. L. from Marietta College (Ohio) in 1910 and from Hamilton College (N. Y.) in 1913.

In the course of his recent visit to Great Britain Chief Justice Taft received an honorary degree from Oxford University on June 22 and another from Aberdeen University on July 7. These bring the total number of honors of this kind to sixteen. It is within the range of possibility that he may yet equal Colonel Roosevelt's record of nineteen.

The quality of a high class champagne depends exclusively on the "crus" or vintages it is made of. For this reason the firm LOUIS ROEDERER has always made it a principle to secure the best vintages regardless of cost.

Mothers At Resort Get Needless Scare

(China Press Correspondence)

Weihaiwei, August 9.—While several tea parties were in full swing, Saturday, a rumor was spread abroad that a beautiful child, aged about three, had fallen from the roof of the King's Hotel and had been instantly killed.

As there are several children here of that general description the effect upon the women tea-drinkers was galvanic. With one accord, the telephone was put into use and as that to the hotel was engaged, the interval of waiting was used by those who heard the first report to query various mothers who had young children and who were drinking tea at neighboring houses.

Soon the procession of terrified mothers in rickshas and carriages was streaming toward the hotel, each expecting to see the inanimate form of one of her children lying on its steps.

Manager Clark met the wave of mothers valiantly. He assured them collectively and individually that none of the Weihai children had fallen from the roof, none had been drowned, and, so far as he knew, all the Chefoo children were carrying on in their usual health and boistrousness.

Then came the inquisition. Where had the rumor emanated and from whom? No one seemed to remember just where she had heard it. The relief from fear was so great that soon recriminations began to fly like Shilelahs at a Donnybrook fair. Again Manager Clark intervened and after several thousand words had been talked, the storm ended.

But what started it is still unsolved and many women seeking revenge for their fright are bending their best energies to pin it on someone. And how that someone will suffer!

Students Demand Pay For Teachers

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, August 12.—Dr. Wang Chung-hui attended the Ministry of Education this morning when he was surrounded by a group of students agitating in favor of their teachers who have not been paid.

He also went to the Cabinet. General Chang Shou-tseng made his first appearance in the Ministry of War and later at the Cabinet.

RESIGNATION REJECTED

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, August 12.—Mr. Hsu Shih-ying submitted his resignation on the plea that he does not wish to remain in office as disbandment of troops appears to be impossible for the present. The resignation was rejected.

Red Cross Roads In Shansi Repaired

(China Press Correspondence)

Fenchow, Shansi, Aug. 7.—The Red Cross roads built last year are now being gone over for repairs by Gov. Yen. Contracts for two bridges over the Fen River were let in the spring and the one over the river at Pingyao twenty miles from Fenchow was about completed when the rain came. A little hustling would have made it possible for automobiles to run even through the rainy season but when mountain freshets come it is impossible for cars to get across this bridge.

On the mountainous road to the Yellow river some damage has been done to the bridges while just outside the west city gate of Fenchow a five arch well constructed culvert was washed out. The water came from both directions and completely covered the structure.

The automobile road has brought rickshas to the interior places and one can go between Taiyuanfu, Yutzu, Taiku, Chihsien, Pingyao, and Fenchow by this mode of travel.

A tax of twelve dollars a month for broad-tired carts is charged and no others are allowed on the new roads. In spite of the rather large tax the number of these carts is constantly increasing and on the Yellow river section where there are no other roads passable for carts, only pack animals being used, there are about 500 broadtired carts.

Italy Returning To Normalcy, Report

(China Press Service)

Washington, August 14.—An official dispatch from Rome states that Italy is rapidly returning to normal conditions.

The Facta government has been strengthened by the clearing up of dissentions and trouble in the province of Genoa.

Genoa, which has been under martial law has been returned to the civil authorities, the Socialists controlling local communities are reported to have resigned voluntarily and are being replaced with government commissioners.

GEN. CHEN IS NOW COCK OF THE WALK IN SOUTH CHINA

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, August 12.—General Chen Chiung-ming apparently has a free hand to make or break himself in Canton according to today's despatches. His forces have completely beaten General Hsu Chung-chih's soldiers who are in flight to the north both into Kiangsi and Fukien.

The main body of General Chen's troops are on their way to Canton but an outpost is being left behind in Namyung, Shuichow and Lokchong in case Hsu Chung-chih should attempt to return. At the same time General Chen is maintaining a close watch on the line running northeast from Canton along the Tung Kiang Kiang into Fukien from where he thinks General Hsu may try to cut down south again.

According to the reports, Chen Chiung-ming is now turning his attention to politics. He is said to have asked Tang Shao-yi to assume the Civil Governorship. If the opposition to this appointment materialises, as seems to be the case that it will, General Ma Yu-hung is the next choice. The people of Canton are digging up their possessions and shops are gradually opening.

However, they still remember the mean treatment they received at the hands of General Chen's troops and it is considered that unless the latter makes a decided move which will gain the confidence of the people very quickly, he may not be in the position shortly to go about selecting Civil Governors for the Province. The followers of the Kwomingtang are said to be particularly against the victor over Dr. Sun Yat-sen.

It is also reported that General Chen has been treating with Ling Fu of Kwangsi with the idea of governing the two Provinces along the lines of his federation idea. The main obstacle to such an alliance at the present moment is the disturbed condition of Kwangsi. Ling Fu's power is not all it might be. There are many local lords that have enough of a following to balk any plan of united action between Ling Fu and General Chen Chiung-ming.

"THE SECRET OF SUCCESS"

Many people are looking for it in vain. In the Aerated Water business, it is easy to find, and may be expressed in one word "QUALITY." If the quality is not right, all your other efforts are wasted. For that reason we buy everything used in the preparation of our Aerated Waters of the best quality only, and we invite an inspection of our books to prove it.
Another point with us, of equal importance, is that everything in connection with the preparation of our Aerated Waters is

"ABOVE BOARD"

We do not want to shut ourselves in within a high wall while working, and we have no secrets. If you care to visit our factory at any time, we shall be pleased to show and explain everything to you. It will surprise you to see the infinite care taken to ensure the purity of our Waters.
Support the officers of the Health Dept. by seeing for yourself as well.
